

struction following the recent earthquake.

That country, it is pointed out, is striving in every way to cut down its expenses, and it is felt that the nation may have a chance to recompense and to take care of the enormous losses which Japan was obliged to seek in the United States and in England.

In connection with a rumor given circulation yesterday to the effect that Secretary Hughes had inspired the Japanese ambassador's note the secretary of state himself today not only denied the report but said the first intimation he had of the protest by Tokyo's envoy was the actual receipt of the communication.

Ambassador Hanihara's letter, it was declared, was primarily concerned with the question of gentlemen's agreement. This agreement was not in definite, brief form, but consisted of a mass of correspondence extending over a period of more than a year.

NOTE SHOWED COOPERATION

In the opinion of administration officials, it was not only perfectly proper for Ambassador Hanihara to interpret the agreement, but it also showed a willingness on the part of the Japanese government to assume responsibility in stating the terms and a willingness to cooperate that was highly commendable.

It was emphasized that Ambassador Hanihara frankly admitted the right of the United States to decide the question of immigration and denied any wish to interfere. When he spoke of "our own consequences," it was stated, he unquestionably meant the words to be taken in connection with the phrase following, which spoke of the "otherwise wise living and mutually advantageous relations between our two countries."

While there is a general tendency among officials to depreciate any talk of Japanese threats, they are practically unanimous in the opinion that the immigration question is one of the gravest moment.

It was again denied at the Japanese embassy that Ambassador Hanihara is planning to return to Japan, despite press dispatches to that effect from Tokyo.

AMENDMENTS ARE TANGLED

The senate's action, disposing of the last of the committee amendments, came only after a parliamentary tangle which four separate votes were required to clear up.

Senator Willis [Rep., Ohio] moved adoption of a bill which would amend changing the quota percentage from 2 to 1, but not mentioning any census year. Senator Harrison [Dem., Miss.] sought almost simultaneously to introduce an amendment and bring it to immediate vote, making the quotas 2 per cent on a basis of the 1890 census.

While considerable sentiment for this was apparent, it was recalled that under a unanimous consent agreement of two weeks ago all committee amendments had to be disposed of in order and before other amendments. Thus the order was percentage and census year.

VOTE FOR 1 PER CENT

Those favoring 2 per cent on 1890 were faced with the necessity of voting first in favor of 1 per cent so as to bring about as great restriction as possible in case they were unable later to get through the 1890 clause.

Senator Harrison then withdrew his amendment temporarily after he had received assurance from Republican colleagues that they would not oppose a later reconsideration of the percentage angle.

The change to 1 per cent was carried by a vote of 54 to 25.

Senator Harrison then moved to change the basis of computation of quotas from the 1910 to the 1890 census, a proposal which was thus placing the senate momentarily on record for both 1 per cent and 1890.

When reconsideration of the percentage change vote was called for, Senator Smith [Dem., S. C.] objected. He contended that the senate had passed both the 1890 and the 1 per cent provisions and could not change without automatically agreeing to keep on reconsidering each decision and repeatedly switching back and forth.

The power to reconsider finally was voted to itself by the senate by a 60 to 16 ballot, and by a viva voce vote it then agreed to take up the Willis motion.

SAME AS HOUSE PROVISION

This time, with the census set at 1890, the senate reversed its previous action by voting only to agree for the change to 1 per cent and 55 to 44. Thus it finally got the quota provisions identical with those of the house and identical with what they would have been under Senator Harrison's original

Japanese Hope for Coolidge Veto to Wipe Out "Insult"

[Copyright: 1924 by the New York Times.]

TOKIO, April 17.—The Japanese government does not contemplate any new move for the present with regard to the immigration bill and is anxiously waiting to see what further action will be taken on the part of the United States, it was said in official circles today.

Foreign Minister Matsui will make a report on the immigration question to the cabinet council at its regular meeting tomorrow morning and until then, at least, no further action will be taken, and no new instructions will be forwarded to Ambassador Hanihara in Washington.

It is stated that no instructions have been sent to Ambassador Hanihara since he presented his note of protest to Secretary Hughes last Thursday. It was officially announced today that the Japanese government has no intention of recalling Ambassador Hanihara for the moment.

SEES THREATS FOR HANIHARA

But an official of the foreign office reported the opinion that the ambassador might find it difficult to remain in Washington and might later seek to return to Japan.

It is hoped here that President Coolidge will veto the immigration bill, even if it should be later repassed over the President's veto, so as to modify in some measure the "insult" which, it is felt here, was directed at Japan by the action of the United States senate.

There have been no popular outbursts of a violent character, far in front of the foreign office this morning, and demanded from officials an explanation of the government's attitude in regard to the immigration bill. They were received by an under official and later dispersed singing military songs.

PATRIOTS AND PRESS BIZARRE

Printed handbills signed by the Young Men's Patriotic association were also distributed in the street expressing dissatisfaction at the action of the Japanese government.

Japanese press comment today is bitter. Asahi prints a large picture of the Statue of Liberty under the caption, "Statue will weep." Nichinichi says:

"The senate's action has seriously affected the pride and honor of the Japanese nation." Hoshi states: "The Japanese government can only wait for the decision of President Coolidge, whose veto is our only hope."

Asahi adds: "It people of the world want the right to exist, they must be prepared for war. America is no longer a friendly neighbor to Japan."

A CLOSEUP VIEW FROM CALIFORNIA OF THE JAPANESE

Shortridge of California does not hate to say California wants to stop the immigration of Asiatics, and he tells why.

"The Japanese," he says, "are ineligible to citizenship. Racially they are not assimilable, and white men cannot compete with them successfully to maintain the standard of life and living, as known to the Americans. The welfare of our own people demands the exclusion of the Japs."

COVET GOLDEN STATE'S FERTILITY

A writer in a local paper has this to say about the situation:

"Japan proper has a population of 75,000,000 and for these 50,000,000 there are nearly 8,000,000 acres upon which crops can be grown. California contains approximately 100,000,000 acres on which crops can be grown. But at present only about 3,000,000 acres are irrigable.

"The total amount of land of crop productive value when the last acre shall have been put under irrigation, is less than 12,000,000 acres. Then California can decently support a population of 30,000,000."

BEGRimed A CHURCH

They selected a house in Tamarind avenue, and it was there the sidewalk was stenciled with the warnings and that the signs went up in the bungalows.

"Swat the Japs!" Real estate values were endangered. Protests were made to the city council. Three hundred white residents of Hollywood signed a petition asking for the cancellation of the church lease. The fight is still going on.

Another colony of Japanese Christians sought to put up a church in Long Beach. The city council refused them permission, despite the bitter opposition of Councilmen Filmore Condit and Frank Davis. Condit told his fellow councilmen that he was ashamed to live in a city "where narsive race prejudice could prevent the erection of a Christian church wherein men might worship Christ."

"You have barred Christianity and civilization," he said when the council had acted, and he declared he would leave the city.

However, the Japanese have a Christian church in the heart of Los Angeles. The Presbyterians and Congregationalists gave $25,000 to its support.

The rest of the money, approximately $50,000, was raised among the Japanese.

Most of the local Japanese are Christians. And the Hollywood Japs had gone to a Presbyterian church until the white Christians put a stop to it. They outnumbered the white Christians. They were told to get a church of their own.

DRINKING IN THRIFT

The Japanese agriculturist knows he works hard and long. The white man cannot compete with him. Will the Japs then some day own all those smiling valleys? Not after anti-alien laws and Supreme court decisions say no.

But still the Japs come; and California says: "Exclude them all."

The Japanese find it almost impos-ible to rent homes in Los Angeles. It is only in the exceedingly cheap quarters that a grubbing welcome is given them—and Mexicans and Negroes are much preferred.

But let's finish the story about the Japanese church in Hollywood before we go on with the series.

Most of the local Japanese are Christians. And the Hollywood Japs had gone to a Presbyterian church until the white Christians put a stop to it. They outnumbered the white Christians. They were told to get a church of their own.

YACHT CHIEVES ARE SOUGHT AS WEEKS' SLAYERS

Conviction grew yesterday that Leon Weeks, commercial artist and yacht man, whose body was taken from the lake early in the day following his disappearance Nov. 11, was murdered by a gang of thieves when his enemy had incurred. This conclusion was reached upon discovery that the victim's face and neck bore discolored from possible bruises, and that his shirt collar was torn.

Robin Weeks, a brother, declared Weeks had no reason whatever to make out.

The body had been seen at dawn drifting about in the shadows of the most harbor by Rudolph Brooks, fisherman, who strolled along Lincoln avenue, a fisherman. Identification was made through a Chinese Yacht club membership card found in Weeks' pocket. The body had been in the water for several months.

MOSES DECRIMES SENATE INQUIRY BY "OUIJABOARD"

Senator Hails Coolidge
as Great and Calm.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

A New Hampshire Moses last night and 500 members of the National Association of Lumber Manufacturers out of the land of scandal that Washington these days and showed them his way to the "promised land," overflowing not with oil barrels and honey.

Senator George H. Moses spoke at the barbershop the lumbermen at the Congress hotel.

The United States senator reduced the Washington scandal of 1924 to a stratum of common back fence gossip. He declared that in the end the investigating committees will have no case against anybody.

Senator Moses characterized the witness that he had been "as 'the most motley procession that ever has come before a court or body—a succession of divorcees, drunkards, divertiess, dope fiends, discredited, discredited, and discharged employees."

"We finally got down," he said—"we finally got down to reformed bandits and any man with a grievance."

Just One "Futile Lie Proved."

Then he shook a finger in the faces of the auditors and added:

"And out of it all has come only one fact—that a man in high office told us unnecessary and wholly futile lie about something that happened before he went into office—no other fact has been conclusively shown."

The senator at this point said he had advisedly "left the ladies and gentlemen, my dear Chairman of three Senate investigating Committees and a member of a fourth."

By the fourth he meant the Teapot Dome committee. In that connection he summed up all the testimony of the "motley procession of witnesses."

The "Senate's Ouija Board."

"Something in a tiny town 'got by the ouija board from somebody who's dead about something somebody said about some one who is now out of the jurisdiction,'" was the way he put it.

Senator Moses added, however, he does not want his remarks interpreted as decrying the "useful purposes of congressional investigations."

"No, not that," he said. "My hope is that out of all this welter of investigation and interrogation there will be something constructive—something useful to carry forward the great aims that constitute a great republic like ours."

"I cannot see how a mass of half-truth and slander such as we have obtained at Washington will do any good. We seek to bring evil to light and punish it; but looking back over the great mass of testimony we find there is but little proved other than inferentially."

Coolidge Only Is Calm.

Senator Moses spoke of life in Washington as having become a nightmare.

"Out of the murky, miserable atmosphere one figure, courageous and with vision, arises—a President who stands ready to wield all the great power of his office and to give the people the benefit of it."

"The Luther Burbanks of politics have made of this republic a hybrid nation. We have come to have a new nation, a nation that this country for years from what the men of the last century conceived them to be. Our motto used to me 'E pluribus unum.' Now it is 'Pass the buck.'

"We used to be the 'Land of the Bounded.'

"If you want better government you have it—it's up to you. If you don't like it—go to the office of the state department and he was discharged on June 17, 1918."

TOKIO ANNOUNCES HE'S NOT BEEN RECALLED

It is officially stated in Tokio that, contrary to newspaper rumor, Ambassador Hanihara has not been recalled from Washington. The Japanese envoy is seen with his wife. ### WIGMORE FLAYS ALLINSON; BIDS PUBLIC SHUN HIM

Points to Slacker's Full Record.

In a public letter, in which he set forth the record of Brent Dow Allinson, the conscientious objector whose utterances provoked the recent outburst of pacifism in Evanston, John H. Wigmore, dean of the Northwestern university law school, yesterday made it plain that from now on no "respectable Evanstonian" can listen to that radical and plead ignorance as an alibi.

Heed Rebuff to Pastor.

The letter is considered in the light of a rebuff to the Rev. Ernest Freedmont Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist church, in which Allinson addressed the members of his congregation and a member of a fourth.

On the petition of Attorney Charles C. Roe, Judge Joseph B. David issued a writ of mandamus ordering the city to restore a license formerly held by Charles F. Taylor, proprietor of a place at 4022 Cottage Grove avenue, and held that section 3 of the state prohibition act was unconstitutional.

Similar action taken a month ago by Municipal Judges Barasa and Johnson resulted in a victory which ultimately would keep half of former saloons closed last fall in Mayor Dever's first big dry drive. It was said that the Superior court decision gave even greater hope and would open the way for an avalanche of suits.

Dean Wigmore at the time protested strenuously against Allinson being allowed to speak in the church.

Even after the flag bashing episode and the meetings called to protest against the pacifistic actions of the '38' many Evanstonians insisted that Allinson was a "harmless sort of fellow who meant well, but had peculiar ideas along certain lines." He was "not as bad as he had been painted in the newspapers," they contended.

Wigmore Gets All Records.

It was then that Dean Wigmore took the trouble to write to the state and federal departments in Washington to obtain the official records of Allinson's actions which drew a sentence of fourteen years at hard labor in Leavenworth prison.

The record from the state department showed that young Allinson had first been appointed a clerk in the diplomatic service and assigned to the consulate in Bern, Switzerland, but that before he sailed his utterances were so notorious that he was sent to the office of the state department and he was discharged on June 17, 1918.

SKIBA SLAYERS TO BE HANGED THIS MORNING

With the hanging this morning of Lucius Dolton and Henry Wilson, the incident of the murder of Policeman Vincent Skiba, martyr to duty, will be closed.

Some time between 7 and 8 o'clock the condemned men, both of whom are colored, will begin the march from the death cell to the gallows—exactly three months and eleven days after Skiba went down Skiba in a lone stretch of the country on the far south side.

The last hope for a reprieve came late yesterday, when announcement was made at the executive office in Springfield that Gov. Small would take no action in the matter. Pleas for clemency by the slayers' attorneys were rejected by the second committee of the state division of pardons and paroles.

Policeman Skiba, a veteran of the department, was killed when he attempted to arrest Wilson, Dolton, and another colored bandit who had just held up two stores in South Chicago avenue.

COURT'S RULING FAVORS SOFT DRINK PARLORS

Efforts of proprietors of soft drink parlors to nullify the city's licensing power and the attendant power of the mayor to revoke the permits for such places to remain open yesterday reached the Superior court for the first time and resulted in a decision favoring the supposed pop and lemonade dispensers.

On the petition of Attorney Charles C. Roe, Judge Joseph B. David issued a writ of mandamus ordering the city to restore a license formerly held by Charles F. Taylor, proprietor of a place at 4022 Cottage Grove avenue, and held that section 3 of the state prohibition act was unconstitutional.

BOLT PACIFISM EVEN IN MOCK CONVENTION

150 U. of C. Student Delegates Quit.

After some 150 delegates had left the hall in protest Senator Robert M. La Follette was nominated for the La Follette on an up and out pacifist and radical—almost "red"—platform last night in a mock Republican convention held by the students at the University of Chicago.

The exodus from Mandel hall was precipitated by a stirring protest against the "radical and pacifist" convention by "radicals and pacifists," as voiced by Clarence D. McBride, then president of the Coolidge club and one of the organizers of the national college club in the Wood campaign of 1920.

Couldn't Stand Pacifism.

It came after the convention had adopted a platform containing, among other planks, such pacifistic and radical propositions as recognition of soviet Russia, total dismemberment of "land, sea, and air," abolition of protection, organization of a world court, continuation of the "gentleman's agreement" with Japan, independence of the Philippines and the nationalization of all natural resources.

"This is a platform that no self-respecting American can concur in," said McBride, leaping to the rostrum after the names of the candidates had been placed in nomination. "I was going to nominate President Coolidge, but I refuse to nominate any real American on such a ticket. I don't believe the honor of the school will allow us to put any one in nomination."

Run By Radicals.

"The meeting is being run by radicals. Save the honor of the university! I appeal to all loyal Americans to leave the hall to the radicals and the Reds, and let them do what they want."

Among those who followed McBride from the convention door were the solid delegations of five Coolidge states—Alabama, Arizona, Connecticut, Florida and Georgia. And the strange party about the door was missing, as well as about a hundred other delegates from scattered states, the one ballot taken, as counted by the radicals, showed 349 votes cast out of a possible 354. President Coolidge ran a poor second to the Wisconsin senator, with Hiram Johnson, Senator William E. Borah, Senator Hart, and Senator George H. Moses.

La Follette, a poor third, and Gov. Frank O. Lowden trailing in the ruck in the order named. The vote was announced as follows:

La Follette ..... 109
Coolidge ..... 96
Johnson ..... 21
Borah ..... 19
Lowden ..... 3

And the Platform.

When the delegates arrived in the convention hall they found it decorated entirely in banners bearing the "Follette and Progress" slogan.

C. M. Kooper, a senior, was elected permanent chairman. The resolutions, drafted by Max Swire, an active member in the Liberal club at the university, were presented by Miss Helen Robbins.

Besides the planks already mentioned, others provided for the purchase of the British West Indies to cancel England's debt to the United States, direct popular election of a President, federal charter for corporations engaged in interstate commerce, reduction of the tariff, federal jurisdiction in all lynching cases, more careful supervision of medical licensing, enforcement of prohibition (greeted by a thunder of cheers), better laws on seafarers, nationalization of marriage and divorce laws, and a "complete house cleaning in all departments of the government."

A ten minute demonstration was staged when La Follette's name was placed in nomination by Swire. Lowell Wadmond, president of the senior law class, nominated Coolidge when McBride refused to do so.

Framed by Radical.

"This entire La Follette business was framed by a group of radicals in the political science department," McBride said shortly after the meeting. "It was carefully plotted by La Follette politicians, who were with him. The University of Chicago favors the Wisconsin senator. I do not believe the sentiment in the convention represents the sentiment of the school any more than the pacifists in Evanston represented Northwestern. They simply organized the whole thing, got control of state papers and we saw from the start we had our chance. What I was trying to do was to protect the name of the university."

Gov. Gifford Pinchot was unanimously nominated for vice presidency without opposition.

Three Children in

Evanston Bitten by Dogs

Three children were bitten by dogs in Evanston yesterday. Dr. R. D. Higgins, 131 Colfax street, whose dog bit 16 year old Gertrude Mathews, 333 Kedzie street, was arrested on a charge of harboring a vicious animal.

YOUNG MOTORIST PLACED ON TRIAL FOR GIRL'S DEATH

Detroit Jurist Urges Jail for Speeders.

Ralph C. Richardson, stepson of Thomas E. Wilcox, millionaire lumberman, yesterday was placed on trial, charged with manslaughter, before a jury in Judge Hoses Wells' court. The charge grew out of the death last November of Marguerite Joyce, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Joyce, 604 Lafayette avenue.

Enoch Warmoth, a motorman, who was on a Cottage Grove avenue car which had been stopped to permit Mrs. Joyce and her daughter to pass, related that as they reached the farthest street car, the Richardson car struck them. The youthful driver was "50 per cent drunk," according to the testimony of Dr. William Schechter, physician at the hospital.

Three Days Without Death.

Three days have now passed without a death due to automobile accidents. The Journal's record for this time of the year, according to Coroner Oscar Wolff.

One person, a schoolboy, was reported severely injured. He is Mathew Mietzarek, 6, 2049 North Hoyne avenue, who was struck at Robey street and Armitage avenue by a truck driven by Joseph Matros, 917 Sacramento boulevard. Police are holding Matros.

PLAN WAR ON SPEED

Judge Charles L. Bartlett of Detroit, international known nemesis of thereckless automobile driver, and Chief Morgan Collins of the Chicago police department agreed last night that the automobile speeders is "the most contemptible class of modern criminal and the fixing of his car is the most degrading practice of the modern court." Together they outlined a relentless war on speeders. They met as principals on speeders.

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1 last.

Panel speakers at the convention of the Casualty Insurance Adjusters' association held in the Great Northern hotel.

Bartlett Tells of Fight.

Judge Bartlett, who originated jail sentences for reckless drivers convicted in his Detroit Traffic court in 1923 and of his long fight against an effort to make the Dodge Brothers' millions and a score of other wealthy drivers to the rock pile, led speeders through Detroit hospitals and morgues to view their victims, and seized the cars of those convicted.

Although he has not presided over the traffic court except for one month since he originated its system, he has handled 125,000 cases of automobile cases, and 1,000 of the adjudicated Detroit accidents by his stern court measures.

He told of the powerful political pressure brought to bear every day he sat on the bench in behalf of influential defendants and ended by reading a resolution signed by several thousand of the men he sentenced, who voluntarily urged his reelection and endorsed the strict rules that had made "careful drivers" of them all.

SCHOOL BOARD PRESIDENCY TO BE CHANGED?

Rumors that Charles M. Moderwell wishes to relinquish the presidency of the board of education found apparent confirmation in Mayor Dever's assertion yesterday that he is seeking a "high class man to accept a big job without pay."

When the mayor denied that he had discussed such a proposal with Mr. Moderwell, close friends of the latter, who was out of the city yesterday, admitted that he has hinted a desire to resign as head of the board, although anxious to retain his membership in the body. Pressure of private business is said to be the cause of his desire to retire as president.

Mr. Moderwell was asked to allow his colleagues to consider an appropriation of $10,000 annually for his salary.

BOY PATROLMAN RISKS LIFE TO SAVE PLAYMATE'S

Roy Mayberry, 11, member of the boy patrol of the Libby school, received an official citation for heroism from Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew yesterday. Roy was on duty at the crossing during recess yesterday when he saw a car bearing down on a fellow pupil. Dashing into the street, he pushed the boy out of danger and himself jumped to one side as the car skidded by with screeching brakes.

The act was witnessed by Principal Willis E. Tower, who declared the boy would have been struck had it not been for Roy's presence of mind and courage.

WHEELER FACE QUIZ; WITNESS EXONERATE

Deny He Appeared

U. S. Department

BY PHILIP KINSLEY

Washington, D. C., April 17.—The rapid shifting of senatorial scenery today, Senator E. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] the "cutor" of the Brookhart committee, was the most dramatic and most anxious scene before committee colleagues appointed to examine his recent indictment in Montana.

At the head of the long table sat the new mirror, the powerful Borah of Idaho, a grizzled examiner. Next to him sat Caraway, senator from Arkansas, a stout, amiable man, a good committee man, but not a representative of the Democratic party. Senators McNary, and Sterling completed the group.

Before examining ex-Congressman, the chairman read from the statute which the senator is under. This states that "no representative, or delegate, of either chamber, during continuance of his service, shall receive, or be entitled to receive, compensation for services" in the United States, a party, or other organization.

Violations are punishable by not more than a fine of $1,000.

Talked with Oil Man.

Mr. Stout, editor of the DeMolay News of Lewiston, Mont., said he was acquainted with Gordon Campbell, coverer of the Kevin-Sunburst of Montana, and had talked with him in December, 1922, about his election as Senator-Elect. Senator-Elect Wheeler had asked him to stand by him in his campaign.

What was this conversation?

Wheeler stated the terms which he would work. He said he would not be a candidate if he could not do anything for his constituents. Some leases were in bad title and had to be cleared up, he said.

WHEELER FACES QUIZ; WITNESSES EXONERATE HIM

Dimy He Appeared Before U. S. Department.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—In a day of shifting senatorial investigations today, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] the "prosecutor" of the Brookhart committee's many sessions, found himself on the witness seat before a committee his colleagues appointed to examine into his recent independent Montana.

At the head of the long table before this new mirror sat the keen and powerful Borah of Idaho, a great senator. Next to him sat T. H. Clegg, senator from Arkansas, a man in protecting the interests of the Democratic party. Senators Swanson, McCary, and Sterling completed the group.

Before examining ex-Congressman Tom Stout of Montana, first witness, the chairman read from the federal statute which the senator is indicted under. This states that "no senator, representative, or delegate, after election and during continuance in office, shall receive or agree to receive any compensation for services" in which the United States is a party, or appear before any governmental department in other than an official capacity.

Violation of this is a misdemeanor punishable by not more than two years in prison or a fine of $10,000.

Talked with Oil Man.

Mr. Stout, editor of the Democratic News of Montana, said he was associated with Gordon Campbell, discoverer of the Kevin-Sunburst oil field of Montana, and had talked with him in December, 1922, about employing Senator-Elect Wheeler as attorney for Campbell oil interests. Campbell had asked him, he said, to take the matter up with Wheeler. He did so.

What was this conversation?

Wheeler stated the terms under which he would write. He said that of course he could not represent Campbell except in the state courts. He told me to advise Campbell of this.

What fee was stated?

Ten thousand dollars a year. Campbell was next called. A brisk little man, swinging eyeglasses on a long black chain. He described himself as a geologist and engineer, 51 years old. Senator Sterling suggested that he might waive immunity, as he is under indictment in a mail fraud case, and the witness readily agreed.

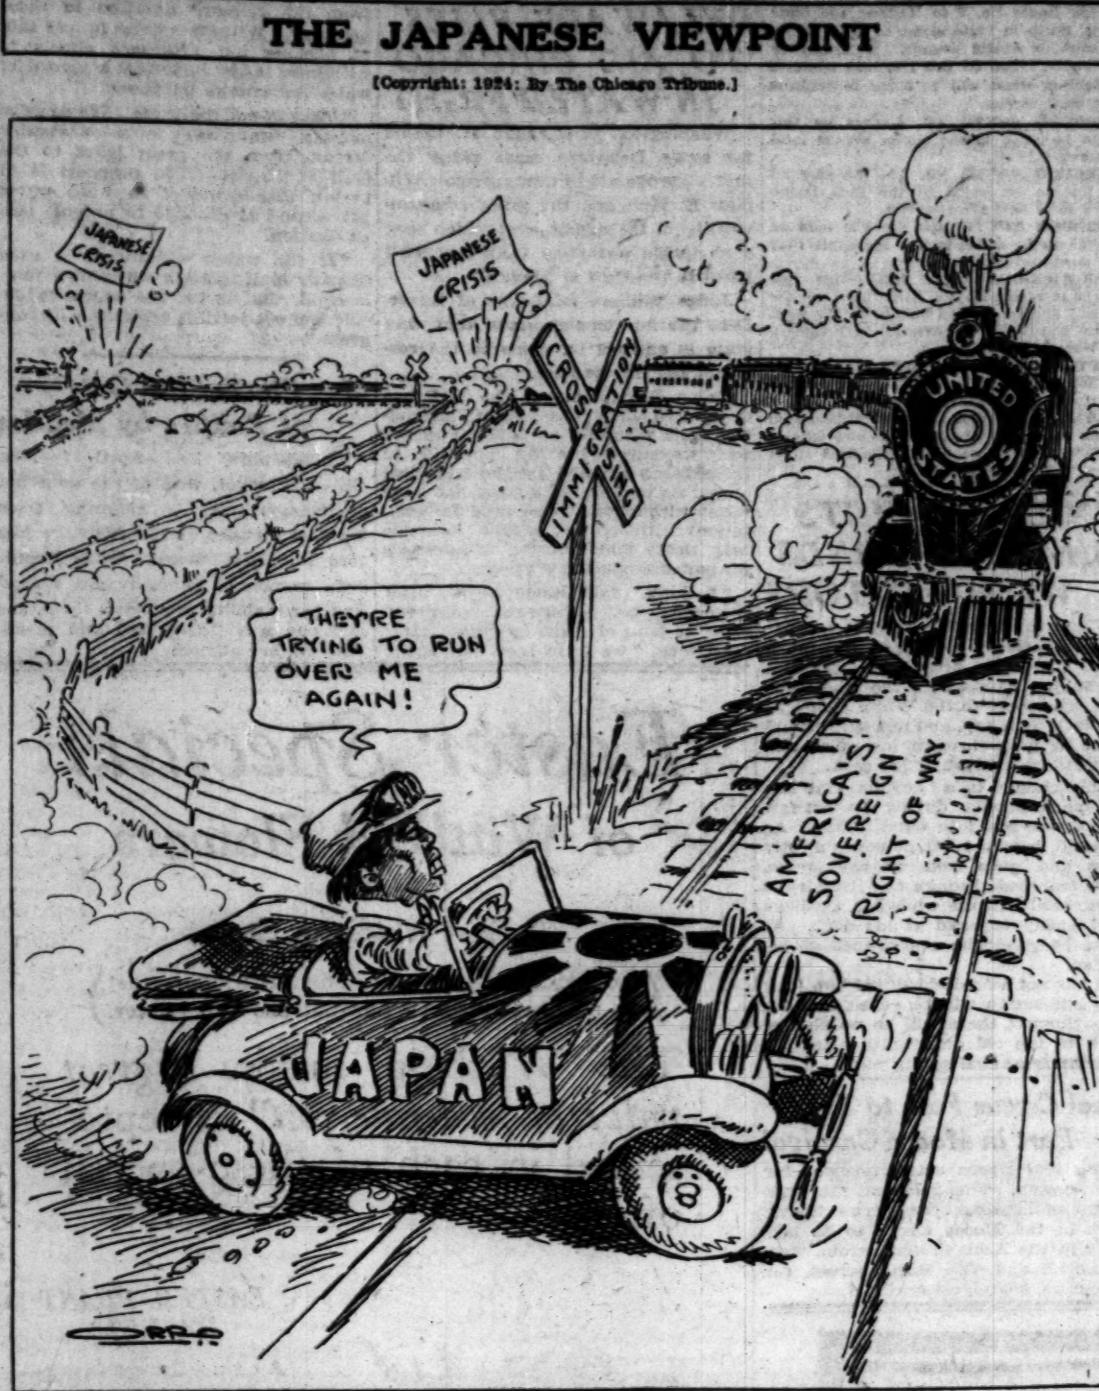

Wanted a Fight.

Questioned on his oil land holdings, he said he had 55,000 acres under lease in the field he had discovered, and spoke of it as an area four times larger than Teapot Dome. At the time he left Wheeler, through Stout, in December of 1922, he said he had other attorney, but was not satisfied with them. He wanted a fighter, not an attorney, and he wanted him to come and give a part of his fees. Wheeler had a reputation as a great trial lawyer.

Campbell said he saw Wheeler in his office at Great Falls Dec. 20, 1922, for the first time.

He asked me the character of the witness, and I told him I wanted him to handle all my business in the state courts, or out of the country. He informed me that he had not done anything for me in land matters. Some leases were in bad shape and had to be cleared up, but I had a lawyer for that work, L. H. Nease, in my office.

Wheeler told me he was in the United States senate (he had just been) and he could not stand to permanent leases that would come before

BUYS AGAIN HER LOOP LOT; A BRIDAL GIFT

Sentiment Controls Realty Transaction.

BY AL CHASE.

Mrs. Clara F. Bass, widow of the late Perkins Bass, yesterday bought from her son, Samuel B. Warner, for $140,000, the 114x18 West Lake street, given to her several decades ago as a wedding present by her father, Dr. John H. Foster, who purchased it in 1880 for $510.

Born Near the Site.

Mrs. Bass, who now lives in Peterboro, N. H., was born near her wedding present lot. She gave it to her daughter some years ago, and she in turn made a gift of it to her son, Samuel B. Warner. Thus the property has been held by four generations of the family, and now the second has bought it back from the fourth.

Has Large Holdings.

Until her husband, Perkins Bass, died several years ago, Mrs. Bass lived in Chicago, where she was active socially. She still has large holdings of Chicago real estate.

The property she just bought is 40x150 and is improved with a four story building formerly occupied by Peter Van Schack & Sons, wholesale druggists.

SLAY POLITICIAN AS HE SITS AT WHEEL OF AUTO

Tony San Filippo, a well-known drug and political leader among the Italians in Chicago Heights, was found shot to death last night, sitting at the steering wheel of his car, which had crashed into a fence and a tree in a lonely section of that suburb. He had been shot four times in the back of the head. Police suspect political enemies as perpetrators of the crime.

One bullet had passed entirely through his head and crashed through the windshield.

The body was found in what is known as the "Hungry Hill" district, populated sparsely by residents of foreign extraction. The car, about 2:30 o'clock. No one could be found in the vicinity who would admit having heard any shots fired or seeing any one fleeing from the wrecked car.

This appeared to close the case.

The Idaho senator tossed the indictment aside and adjourned the committee subject to call.

WOMAN, 60, ENDS LIFE BY LEAPING INTO PARK POND

Strollers in Lincoln park yesterday afternoon saw Mrs. Mary Conner, 60 years old, leap to her death in the south pond. She drowned before the police could reach her. A note found in her clothing bore the message: "Forgive me. I could not bear the torture any longer."

The body of a man about 70 years old, believed to be that of John Zinn, was taken from the lake at the foot of North avenue. A bank book in a pocket of his coat bore the name and address, 1925 North Park avenue, a vacant lot. The book showed deposits of $1,200 had been entirely withdrawn in the last two years.

A third body—that of Sidney Sherman, Jr., 14 years old, 315 Argyle street, was recovered from the north branch of the river near Argyle street, Lake street, given to have several decades ago as a wedding present by her father, Dr. John H. Foster, who purchased it in 1880 for $510.

5½ BILLIONS OF FAKE OIL STOCK IN U.S. CHARGE

Old Timer Tells Story of "Manipulations."

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special]—W. W. Tarbell, veteran oil operator and brother of Ida Tarbell, historian of Standard Oil, told the senatorial Teapot Dome investigation yesterday there were 5½ billions of dollars' worth of oil stocks and that over 90 per cent of these flotation were, as he put it: "fakes."

"You are an oil expert?" asked Senator Spencer [Rep., Mo.]

"I don't like that word 'expert,'" snapped the peppy old gentleman, who said he had been "everywhere, roundabout around the globe to breaker and general manager of the Pure Oil company." He is now 82 years old.

"I am sorry; I will not use the word again," said Senator Spencer meekly.

Mollified, Mr. Tarbell responded, "I am an experienced oil man."

Trail That Leads to Many Trunks...

Out of the abundance of his experience he then gave the senators this astounding survey of oil stock manipulation, first commenting on the alleged 90 per cent bogus in the six billion flotation.

"Whether these figures can be confirmed or not," he said, "we know they are not far wrong; further, that 90 of these wrecks is listed with the total of $4,000,000,000 of par value oil stocks on the New York stock and curb exchanges, which average today in the market quotations considerably above par."

"Now as to the bogus stocks, the shares in which represent them are hidden away in the broken trunks and bureau drawers of men and women who labor— their value to them only a sickening memory."

The witness continued with a sensational narrative of Mammoth Oil manipulations, referring to Harry Sinclair as "a prince of manipulators."

"Mammoth Oil was the first to do this," he said, "in the Curt, Oct. 5, 1922, by an advertisement offering at $40, and the first transaction was at $43."

Public Not in on It.

"It was in the hands of a master manipulator, and, ranging from a high of $43 to a low of $17, the net result was seven stockholders, consisting of three individuals, three corporations, and the stock syndicate. The general public had no stock interest, except in so far as 3,100 shares of short contracts may be involved."

"It is a street rumor that these short interests were forced to settle at $140 per share, which means that if you had sold 100 shares at $40, you would have stood a loss of $10,000."

"Sinclair has been quoted as remarking 'I am a gambler; that is why they follow me.' The investors who followed him were not only short of their money, but had not even a share of stock to take their trunks with."

Analyzes Oil Leases.

Analyzing the leases given by the independent oil men to Mammoth oil reserves Nos. 1, 2, and 3, (Nos. 1 and 2 being in California and No. 3 the celebrated Teapot Dome), Mr. Tarbell said:

"Out of the contracts made there were ten by competitive bidding—two in reserve number 11 and eight in reserve number 2. The balance were made on application and followed section 10 of the leasing act, until Feb. 14, 1921, when a very interesting and important precedent was set which

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL, PLATFORM

State Democrats May Use
Only Four Words.

BY DANIEL SULLIVAN.
Springfield, Ill., April 17. (Special)—Four words may be the platform to be adopted by the Democratic convention which assembles in Chicago next week. They are among those brought in by Mount Sinai by Moses and pronounced as one of the commandments "Thou shalt not steal."

about the only question over which the Democrats of the state, who began to meet into Springfield tonight, are at variance, is as to whether the four words shall compose the platform or a more formal declaration.

Justice Thompson, the Democratic leader, leans somewhat the short platform. Downstate

Democrats are inclined to favor some

"more dignified" in the way of expression.

Decision Up to Committee.

It is probable that the final decision between the two schools will not be made until after the convention assembles and the committee on resolutions and its labors.

Both the four word

platform and a longer one will be submitted to the committee on platforms, a committee and its twenty-five members are the ones who will make the final decision.

One of the strongest points in favor of the four syllable platform is the fact that Norman L. Jones, Democratic candidate for governor, has practically written the party's platform, in a speech which he has prepared for the convention. It is urged by the adapters of the short platform that Judge Jones' words will suffice as a substitute for the usual declaration of principles.

comes to "Show Up" Conditions.

It is understood that, candidate in his speech will mince no words in dealing with the present conditions in the state. The various scandals in connection will be gone into thoroughly and there will be nothing that resents

the pussyfooting—unless the omission of any mention of the names of the men responsible for the scandals might be considered as a "show up."

Judge Jones is expected to make a bold play for Republican support, pointing out that partisanship can have no place in a campaign in which a great moral issue is involved. A similar declaration will be contained in the platform if it is decided that the documents fit to contain more than four words.

The play for Republican support apparently has been answered before it will come. Democrats coming from all parts of the state today bring with them the most encouraging news

concerning the refusal of Republicans

to "show up."

INSULTING JAPAN.

One of the mildest of Japanese newspapers asserts that: "Congress insulted the Japanese in the most public manner. Japan will not hesitate to respond to the challenge. She will remember the insult and take the first opportunity for retaliation."

All Japanese comment accuses us of "insult." An insult is an act of contempt and enmity, intended to injure the feelings of another. The passage of the exclusion clause of the immigration bill was not an act of contempt or enmity.

If Great Britain's representative had written a note such as Ambassador Hanhara, the action of congress would have been the same. "Would that have shown that we held the British empire in contempt?"

The Japanese talk of insults and injured honor seems to us a survival from another age. Frederick the Great once told some one that he had three—let us say women of the town—on his neck. He used a shorter and uglier word. The women he referred to were Catherine the Great, empress of Russia; Madame Pompadour, mistress of Louis XV, and Maria Theresa, ruler of Austria-Hungary. The first and second were ladies of whom home life and standards of conduct were not precisely those of, say, Queen Victoria, while Maria Theresa was of irreproachable morality. But all three ladies alike viewed Frederick's remark, which came promptly to their ears, as an insult, and they sharpened their weapons for the Prussian. In other days such matters affected the course of nations. An insult passed between princes of a few centuries ago might send thousands of their subjects to death, but the rights and interests of the whole nation are the only reputable excuse for serious conflict in our day.

It is a sovereign right and a vital economic interest which are involved in our exclusion law, and there is not the slightest intention to hurt the just pride of the Japanese people or to injure them economically, so far as proper consideration of our own interest permits us to do.

The charge of insult by the Japanese can only be based upon the theory that exclusion indicates that we regard the Japanese as inferior to ourselves. It would be nearer to the truth that it shows that we consider the Japanese superior to ourselves. The latter is true in the economic field, and the question of cultural superiority is not involved. The predominant and obvious motive for exclusion lies in the demonstrated fact that Americans cannot compete with the Japanese economically. The Japanese is more thrifty, he works longer hours, he spends less on his living. Industry, self-control, economy in expenditure are all virtues which we respect. Exclusion as an economic defense of our workers is a tribute of respect, not an insult in any sense.

There is also the motive based on what is termed nonassimilability. It is the obvious interest of any nation to create a homogeneous people, free from groups whose customs and conceptions of social and individual life are not similar, harmonious or identical. But there is not the slightest implication of contempt or assumed superiority in the idea of nonassimilability. Our observation and conviction are that the Japanese are in culture and immemorial race habit so widely different from Americans and occidentals generally that they will not and cannot, at least within a proper period of time, surrender these characteristics for American characteristics.

We do not hold the Japanese in contempt, because they possess a culture and race character of their own or that they are so deeply loyal to their ideas and ideals that they will not and morally cannot exchange them for those of America. On the contrary, intelligent Americans are more disposed to honor the Japanese for this loyalty than to condemn them for it.

But the economic defense of our people is the paramount consideration in exclusion; and if there is any fair consideration of this problem in Japan the right and propriety of that defense will be granted, as any other nation would grant it; as America would promptly grant it to Japan. The people of this country and their forefathers have labored for centuries to establish and maintain a certain standard of living. It has cost innumerable sacrifices in peace and war. It is maintained by our laws and our institutions. It involves the acceptance of habits and customs which the Japanese do not have or adopt when they come among us. It means shorter hours. It means expenditures on many commodities and activities which the Japanese get along without.

Our is a different life from Japan's, and we think that for us it is a "better life." It is our heritage and we intend to keep it if we can and prevent our people from being driven from it by the competition of those who live differently.

We cannot see that there is any question of national honor involved in exclusion, since it involves no assertion of superiority whatsoever. The test is solely one of difference, and the Japanese charge of insult is lacking in foundation.

There is one big reason for doubting its sincerity. If exclusion from the United States is an insult, why is not exclusion from the British dominions? Why is offense taken on the grounds of national honor when the United States asserts a policy which is also the policy of Australia, New Zealand and Canada?

With the most earnest desire to be friends with the Japanese, we must maintain both the justice and wisdom of our course. The Japanese government's formal threat of grave consequences if we exercise a sovereign right could not be ignored by congress or the nation. It was Japan that challenged us, not as the Japanese now assert, the United States that challenged Japan, and we still hope that a fair consideration of the real intent and character of our exclusion policy will bring about a correction of the mistaken inferences of the Japanese.

DISGUSTING.

Miss Genevieve Forbes, a TRIBUNE reporter, has been investigating physical conditions in police stations and cell rooms for several days. She is one of numerous TRIBUNE reporters who have done likewise from time to time. Indeed, the practice has become almost as orthodox as spring cleaning. And Miss Forbes is, just as the others were before her, shocked and amazed by the conditions revealed.

The cell rooms, and, in some cases the stations holding them, to these experienced observers make the Black Hole of Calcutta look like a section of the forest preserve in Indian summer. Every one who looks upon them, or writes or reads about them, is astounded. Yet each year we send out a reporter and find them unchanged except for the added accumulation of a year's filth and decay.

If there is any humanitarian in the city government such as we have been led to believe Miss McDowell or Mayor Dever to be, here certainly is an opportunity. The lowest outcasts of society, men without a friend in the world to speak for them, are the victims of this condition. Every one complains about it, and no one does anything. Why?

THE LAKE CITIES' MUTUAL INTERESTS.

Secretary of War Weeks has relented sufficiently from his recent arbitrary decision against the Chicago sanitary district to give a new hearing to the drainage board officials and counsel. That is encouraging. It ought to be taken to heart by the various lake cities which are opposing Chicago bitterly upon this issue of taking sufficient water from Lake Michigan to assure Chicago's sanitation until adequate disposal plants can be constructed.

All Chicago asks of the government, and of its neighbors, is open minded consideration of this problem. It seems more likely to get it from the government than from the neighbors.

The neighbors should consider the proposition in justice to themselves and their people as well as in justice to Chicago. This city's development and prosperity is a source of stability and prosperity to every city on the great lakes. If they are reasonable, they cannot hope to prosper by obstructing the prosperity of Chicago. Yet that is what they seem to be doing in opposing the use of the drainage canal or approximately its present basic.

Milwaukee, for instance, one of the most violent opponents of Chicago's plan for water, finds one of her best markets for innumerable manufactured and agricultural products in Chicago. The bigger and more prosperous Milwaukee must become. That is true, although to a lesser extent, because of the greater distance of Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, and other lake cities.

Chicago does not want to rob one of them of anything. It wants them to grow and prosper as it grows and prospers, with mutual trade and mutual respect. It will not rob them of anything if its request is granted. It will maintain lake levels at any height required, entirely at its own expense. It will advance the lakes to gulf deep waterway, which must prove invaluable to every lake city and to all contributing territory.

These are things for our neighbors to consider honestly and candidly, without envy or jealousy. No one is trying to put anything over on them. All our cards are on the table. Let's play.

THE FINE ARTS BUILDING SAVED.

The south parks board has taken action for the restoration of the Fine Arts building in Jackson park which should put the preservation of that treasure beyond defeat. The resolution of last winter providing for an initial expenditure of $50,000 on restoration of the exterior has been confirmed by the new board, and upon the initiative of the new member, Mr. Iggo, an ambitious plan for utilizing the interior for assembly purposes will be submitted to voters June 2d.

The Tribune congratulates the board upon the public service it has placed to its credit in thus insuring to ourselves and our posterity one of the rarest examples of classic architecture in the world, a thing of joy forever to our community and to our visitors from far and wide. If nothing whatever were done for the use of the interior the perpetuation of the exterior would be worth far more than its cost in dollars. But if the interior is developed as we think it easily can be, to house the industrial arts school, which Col. Pelouze and his public spirited committee are fostering, and to give assembly rooms for civic purposes, and the large assembly hall proposed by Commissioner Iggo, so much the better.

The whole project is a splendid example of social spirit and official and community foresight. The commissioners' action and the efforts of Col. Pelouze and his committee of the Association of Commerce, Mr. George Maher and the Chicago chapter of the Illinois Institute of Architects, Mrs. Hoberg and the Woman's clubs of the 2d congressional district, Mr. Lorado Taft, Mr. Joseph DeFrese, and Mr. Isaac N. Powell and other citizens, and of the press deserve the thanks of the city.

The Other Side

PROSPERITY IN KANSAS.

[Kansas City Journal-Post.]

Numerous officials, whose business it is to watch the industrial, economic and especially the agricultural barometer, unite in predicting a most gratifying measure of prosperity for Kansas this year.

The predictions are not voiced in wild promises of unbounded plenty, but are conservative estimates, based on facts which are not to be denied.

It goes without saying that when the Kansas farmer enjoys prosperity, the business interests of the state generally will share in it. More than that, the prosperity of Kansas will be reflected in that of a wide surrounding area.

For one reason, the states in this area are governed by virtually the same conditions as obtain in Kansas. For another, Kansas spreads her prosperity, in the very nature of things. It is a matter for widespread congratulation, therefore, that the Kansas omens point so definitely to prosperity in 1924.

PNEUMONIA.

PNEUMONIA is more prevalent in the winter and spring than all other seasons. It is more in evidence when people are crowded together than when they are in the open air.

Prof. E. Huntington has investigated this phase of the pneumonia question especially. He finds that extreme humidity and extreme dryness of the air are both conducive to pneumonia. When the atmospheric temperature ranges from 55 to 70 degrees the pneumonia rate is low so long as the relative humidity stays above 65, but if the humidity drops 20 per cent the pneumonia rate increases.

Most of the harm attributed to low temperatures is really due to injurious low humidities. When the air is very cold it will hold very little water. Therefore when it is very cold and is saturated with moisture, in other words it is still very low in water content. When it is heated from 70 to 75 and the water is artificially added, the humidity is not much affected. In winter, however, the relative humidity is almost zero humidity air most of the time. This combination Huntington holds responsible for much of the high pneumonia rate in cold weather.

Variation in temperature of the atmospheric air causes a decrease in the pneumonia rate. A drop in temperature is better for the health than a rise. Health is best when the average temperature of the atmospheric air day and night is 64 and the average relative humidity is 60.

D. McDowell made some experiments on rats to determine the effects of a hot and cold wet and dry air on pneumonia infection. He found that both high and low humidities favor infection with pneumonia. When the temperatures ranges between 65 and 71 the humidity of the air made no difference. The best humidity for the air he found to be anywhere between 44 and 72. When rats were exposed to temperatures of 67 and 71, their resistance to pneumonia was lowered if they were transferred to air that was kept at 88. But when they had become accustomed to 88, they had an increased resistance to the disease so long as they remained in air at 88 degrees provided the humidity was kept at 44 to 72.

McDowell was experimenting with rats inoculated in the abdomen with pneumonia. What he found may not apply exactly to humans being exposed to pneumonia in the usual way.

Some physicians are in error in this paper to see the daily range in temperature and humidity of the atmospheric air. If you have a thermometer and a hygrometer.

FOOD AND MIGRAINE.

ALLEY IS UP TO GRADE.

Chicago, April 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Last year Long avenue was paved from Irving Park boulevard to Addison street, and in grading the street contractors filled in the alley with clay taken from street. Since then the wagons going through the alley have made a regular clay hole in the alley and it's impossible for automobiles to pass in and out. We would appreciate it very much if you could have the city fill in the alley with ashes. No doubt they are plentiful at this time of the year.

A. W. Alley is up to grade and will not permit any more filling. Alleys in this district are unimproved and the only roads for present conditions is the paving of same.

SMALL PLATFORM IS CHANGED FOR NOVEMBER RACE

Governor Expected to Control Convention.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—(Special.) Gov. Len Small laid his primary platform on the shelf tonight for a more conservative declaration of principles. With President Coolidge as the probable nominee in the Republican national convention, the governor has decided that the old Lundin-Thompson platform of 1920, on which he stood for renomination, is too radical for Small.

Small is expected to control the state G. P. convention here tomorrow. County organizations that fought him in the primaries have sent few delegates. There is every indication that the Lundin organization, which claims control of the 1920 committee, will seat delegates tomorrow. The committee which the Supreme court declared illegal.

Lundin and Thompson Present.

Gov. Lundin was here tonight to talk things over with the governor. He was William Hale Thompson. While Small apparently has little difficulty in controlling the convention tomorrow, he is confronted with the problem of choosing between Lundin and Thompson for his chieftain in Cook county.

According to reliable reports in the capital tonight, Thompson will sail for the South seas in the near future, to absent himself from the election campaign if the governor decides in favor of Lundin.

Through modification of his platform Small hopes to gain control of the Republican state committee which will have charge of the G. O. P. campaign in Illinois next fall. By modifying use of the radical plank he probably will be able to control the committee which it organizes within the next two weeks.

Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, who headed the state committee in 1920, probably will be named as committee chairman.

Chairs to Be Chairman.

Representative Robert Scholz (Rep., Peoria), Small's floor leader last session, will be temporary chairman of the convention. This was decided to-night when Col. Smith declined the position. Col. William C. Radcliffe of Washington will be secretary of the convention.

There is a strong disposition to give the governor control of the state committee, even though he has failed to do much for the campaign.

REASON WHY AMERICANS SHOULD FIGHT ABOUT IT.

Chicago, April 12.—To "Practical Idealists" I wish to say that his article of April 4, consisting of a few meaningless assertions, does not in any way change my historical quotation that, always the aggressor, invaded our lands on 12 occasions, whereas our troops followed them into France three times during the corresponding period. Idealist's sippant rejoinder does not alter the facts. His talk of Italian noblemen bringing bands of German armed men down there is for them, no record can be found of it and it is nothing but blithering. Italy had always, from the immortal, a superabundance of figures of all grades right in her own domain. His assertion that England did not enter German king, and consequently had to send to Germany for the "dear old" King George, personally decided the American colonies. The Hessians just were ordered to go by grand duke, not having had the best idea in the world where to now what for. Idealist's ideal—namely: France, the trained African hussars, are sent into Europe to fight for the Christian white people.

H. J. Price.

S. BUT WHY WITH SURPRISE?

Chicago, April 14.—I acknowledge with pleasure what Scrutator says under the heading "Lindbergh's New Civilization is American."

Concerning Americans, as Nordics, we are of a superior Latin race, be all the Latin genuses were supposed to be from a Nordic descent.

It is wonderful how your Scrutator of a great civilization to be made up of Latin emigrants, mostly Italian in America. But Scrutator is right to use the Italians of today with their great contributions to the Mussolini, and with energetic vigor among European nations. The Italians with their immense man resources, wide awake business sense, and cultural heritage, can do that for civilization of the great South American continent.

DAD DEARBORN GETS READY FOR DRIVE ON DIRT

City-wide cooperation with the Association of Commerce, the board of education, high school civic industrial clubs, and other organizations in a "clean-up-paintup" period from April 21 to May 3 was urged yesterday by Mayor Dailey.

"Every citizen should show his personal pride by cleaning up his house during the 'dirt drive.'

and property so as to avoid fire risks." And cleaning up his front and back yards, painting his premises, shallowing fly and mosquito breeding places, helping to clean up vacant lots, making flower and vegetable gardens, planting grass seed, shrubs, and trees—all of which tend to increase the healthfulness of the citizens of Chicago as well as increasing the beauty of our city's surroundings."

Students in the public schools have been organized with report blanks on which to list their accomplishments in Illinois as approving the radical planks of the platform on which Small stood.

The University of Illinois alumni has presented its state of university trustees to the delegates. They favor the reelection of Mrs. Margaret Day Blake and the election of George A. Barr of Joliet and Fred L. Wham of Centralia.

Small is expected to control the state G. P. convention here tomorrow. County organizations that fought him in the primaries have sent few delegates. There is every indication that the Lundin organization, which claims control of the 1920 committee, will seat delegates tomorrow. The committee which the Supreme court declared illegal.

Lundin and Thompson Present.

Gov. Lundin was here tonight to talk things over with the governor. He was William Hale Thompson. While Small apparently has little difficulty in controlling the convention tomorrow, he is confronted with the problem of choosing between Lundin and Thompson for his chieftain in Cook county.

According to reliable reports in the capital tonight, Thompson will sail for the South seas in the near future, to absent himself from the election campaign if the governor decides in favor of Lundin.

Through modification of his platform Small hopes to gain control of the Republican state committee which will have charge of the G. O. P. campaign in Illinois next fall. By modifying use of the radical plank he probably will be able to control the committee which it organizes within the next two weeks.

Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, who headed the state committee in 1920, probably will be named as committee chairman.

Chairs to Be Chairman.

Representative Robert Scholz (Rep., Peoria), Small's floor leader last session, will be temporary chairman of the convention. This was decided to-night when Col. Smith declined the position. Col. William C. Radcliffe of Washington will be secretary of the convention.

There is a strong disposition to give the governor control of the state committee, even though he has failed to do much for the campaign.

REASON WHY AMERICANS SHOULD FIGHT ABOUT IT.

Chicago, April 12.—To "Practical Idealists" I wish to say that his article of April 4, consisting of a few meaningless assertions, does not in any way change my historical quotation that, always the aggressor, invaded our lands on 12 occasions, whereas our troops followed them into France three times during the corresponding period. Idealist's sippant rejoinder does not alter the facts. His talk of Italian noblemen bringing bands of German armed men down there is for them, no record can be found of it and it is nothing but blithering. Italy had always, from the immortal, a superabundance of figures of all grades right in her own domain. His assertion that England did not enter German king, and consequently had to send to Germany for the "dear old" King George, personally decided the American colonies. The Hessians just were ordered to go by grand duke, not having had the best idea in the world where to now what for. Idealist's ideal—namely: France, the trained African hussars, are sent into Europe to fight for the Christian white people.

H. J. Price.

S. BUT WHY WITH SURPRISE?

Chicago, April 14.—I acknowledge with pleasure what Scrutator says under the heading "Lindbergh's New Civilization is American."

Concerning Americans, as Nordics, we are of a superior Latin race, be all the Latin genuses were supposed to be from a Nordic descent.

It is wonderful how your Scrutator of a great civilization to be made up of Latin emigrants, mostly Italian in America. But Scrutator is right to use the Italians of today with their great contributions to the Mussolini, and with energetic vigor among European nations. The Italians with their immense man resources, wide awake business sense, and cultural heritage, can do that for civilization of the great South American continent.

TELL GERMANS TO PUSH WORK ON DAWES PLAN

BY HENRY WALES.

PARIS, April 17.—The reparations commission today put teeth into the Dawes reparations experts' reports and gave Germany the signal for full speed ahead in the matter of preparing the machinery for putting the Dawes plan into operation as soon as possible.

After a lengthy unofficial meeting this morning the commission this afternoon in an official session unanimously announced several important decisions—placing the experts' project in the hands of the interested governments, speeding up the application of the plan, and practically forcing each allied and the German government to carry on the work or face hostile world opinion as blocking settlement of the reparations problem.

See Report for "First Time."

After accepting Germany's reply yesterday accepting the experts' plan the board for a rapid solution of Europe's great problem, the commission itself formally adopted the report and formally transmitted the Dawes-McKenna findings to the governments concerned with the strong-

Can a woman be too generous in marriage?

MY DAUGHTER told me that she was engaged to a young man whom she had known less than a month. Naturally, I protested a little.

"Of course I may be making a mistake," the girl flung out. "But even if I am—good heavens, Mother, we're only getting married. It needn't be a life sentence. I respect myself too much as a woman to let marriage grow into just a dull farce. You may think divorce is ugly—but it certainly doesn't look half so ugly to me as using marriage merely for a meal ticket. Oh, Mother, if you had only had the nerve in the first place to tell father where he got off!"

A MOTHER tells this story in the May Companion. And she tells more. She confesses that her own married life degenerated into twenty-five years of neglect and disloyalty on her husband's part—which she endured patiently "for the sake of the children."

Now she asks the great family of Companion readers whether such self-sacrifice is right. "Is it possible," she cries, "to be too generous in marriage?"

Is there a way out? Is divorce the way?

She does not leave this question hanging in the air. She teaches a conclusion as fine as her story itself is thrilling. That is the satisfying thing about articles in the Companion. They do reach conclusions.

They are not merely bits of writing, printed to kill time. They are leaves out of human experience, printed to stimulate thought.

Read in the May number what this mother has concluded to say to her daughter. And discover in its other pages the personality of the woman who edits the Companion and has made it such an intimate part of Two Million women's lives.

THAW A FLOP ON WITNESS STAND, STORY NOT TOLD

their opinion Thaw was insane and, if free, would be a menace.

So they had waited to hear Thaw himself testify. They had expected his attorney to ask him why he had killed Stanford White and had been prepared for a "glib" answer—the same answer, perhaps, that he made when he attempted to be freed from Matteawan through habeas corpus proceedings.

A Counter Surprise.

When William Travers Jerome crossed Thaw in his fight for liberty, he made a brilliant witness. Many in the courtroom believed that he would again make brilliant answers to his attorney.

Mr. Patterson's announcement threw the opposing lawyers into confusion for a moment. They leaned their heads together in close consultation with the alienists who were to testify that Thaw is insane. They talked inaudibly for minutes, while Thaw sat on the witness stand, smiling.

Suddenly Mr. Gray announced:

"That's all, Mr. Thaw."

Thaw seemed not to understand at first. He still sat, bewildered. And then, as realization came to him that all his preparation for his anticipated battle of brains—one brain which had been trained—had been bashed many times—and been in vain, his sallow skin became chalky and he wiped the perspiration from his face.

He rose and walked a few steps in the direction of the seat he had occupied for three days. He staggered. Mr. Patterson went to his assistance and took him by the elbow and helped him to his place.

Evelyn May Not Be Called.

Alienists were produced by Evelyn Nesbit and the committee of the Thaw estate who predicted that Thaw might again become a murderer if he were released from confinement.

Miss Nesbit remained in the office of her attorney during the morning and returned to Atlantic City this afternoon. She did not attend the court session, she said, because she did not wish to hear "the revolting testimony."

Her attorney has not yet decided whether he will place Miss Nesbit on the witness stand to tell of acts of personal wage, claiming that the present scale is too high and that as the result of the high price of men's clothing and the late spring season they have suffered a severe loss of business.

The announcement was made by W. E. Hotchkiss, director of the Chicago Industrial Federation of Clothing Manufacturers, representing sixty-five of the largest clothes making shops in the city.

CLOTHIERS AGREE TO CONTINUATION OF WAGE RATES

After several weeks of negotiating, during which a strike loomed several times, the Chicago manufacturers of men's clothing have agreed to operate their plants under the existing wages until 1925. This agreement affects approximately 25,000 members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union employed in the Chicago district.

The manufacturers demanded a cut in wages, claiming that the present scale is too high and that as the result of the high price of men's clothing and the late spring season they have suffered a severe loss of business.

"His mother's object in having him released from an insane asylum is to marry him off to somebody. She hopes that he will have an heir, and in that way make Russell's chances of inheriting the estate even less."

There will be no further session of the Thaw trial until Monday.

Spring—Change Oil

Put clean oil in the crank-case and a home supply in your own garage

DECEMBER, January, February, and March are the hardest months on an automobile engine. Cold weather makes it necessary to use the choke freely when starting. This results in the drawing of raw and unevaporated gasoline into the combustion chambers.

This raw gasoline tends to work past the piston-rings and dilute the oil in the crank-case. During winter it is not unusual to find a 25% to 30% dilution of the oil after only 200 miles of running.

Perhaps your oil is so diluted right now!

The time to drain and refill

With the close of March, warmer weather comes. The choke need not be so freely used. But the old oil should be drained from the crank-case and a fresh supply of Gargoyle Mobiloil poured in. Be sure to secure the grade specified for your car in the Chart of Recommendations. All dealers who carry Mobiloil have the Chart.

Since 80% or more of all cars are kept in the owner's home garage, more and more motorists are realizing the value of a home supply of Mobiloil. With a 5-gallon can or a 15-, 30-, or 55-gallon steel drum (with convenient, leak-proof faucet) in your home garage, you put new protection, new convenience, and new economy into the maintenance of your engine.

Also, you learn to look at your oil level at the same time you look at your tires, gasoline supply, and the water in the radiator.

Dealers are now featuring Gargoyle Mobiloil in the sealed 5-gallon and 15- and 30-gallon containers. It will pay you to put such a supply into your own home garage.

BRITISH LABOR MAY END IMPOST DUTIES ON AUTOS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, April 17.—It was announced today that Philip Snowden, Labor chancellor of the exchequer, is determined to drop what is known as the McKenna duties. This is a tariff of 33 1/3 per cent on automobiles, films, clocks, watches, and musical instruments imported at the beginning of the war by Roland McKenna, then chancellor of the exchequer, a promise that it would be dropped as soon as the war was over. The object of it was twofold, to restrict spending on luxuries and to protect essential industries during the war.

The effect, particularly on the motor trades, has been to build up the prosperity of British industry. Coventry, which is the seat of the British motor industry, is booming, but the boom will be over if American cars are admitted on equal terms.

The majority of the Liberals, however, are demanding a repeal of the duties and are sure to vote with the government if this feature is in the budget.

FISKE POETRY PRIZE FAILS TO FIND A WINNER

The University of Chicago announced yesterday that the committee of award of the John Billings Fiske prize for poetry had reported unanimously that none of the poems submitted by Americans was worthy of the award.

"I do not recall any other year since the foundation of the prize in which the committee would not have felt justified in assigning the prize to one of the contestants," John Matthews Manly, head of the department of English and chairman of the committee, reported. "I suppose we must be content to realize that poetic inspiration is not to be found in the stream and to hope that in the future its flow will not be too intermittent."

A Real Home

HE private residence or even the ordinary modern apartment—women of today have learned—does not constitute a real home in the complete sense in which the apartment hotel suite answers that description.

Residents of the Churchill Apartment Hotel not only possess homes that are spacious, luxurious, and furnished with all the refinement of discriminating good taste, but they are no longer troubled with the servant question, the problem of meals, the perplexities of entertaining, and the multitude of other "little worries" that every woman heartily dislikes. The Churchill's main dining room and private dining rooms are noted for their excellent cuisine. They are used for dinner parties and luncheons; and the apartment dining rooms, in conjunction with the completely equipped modern kitchenettes, are used for informal entertaining.

As an apartment home, we can safely tell you—and your own inspection will confirm it—that your conception of a real home with all the luxuries and conveniences of an efficient yet unobtrusive service will be realized in the Churchill.

The Churchill Apartment Hotel combines the service of a fine hotel organization with the comforts of a private home. It is located in the city's most exclusive residential section, yet close to the shopping and theater district. Motor bus lines and surface cars are within two blocks. Apartments of two to six rooms, handsomely furnished and all with completely equipped kitchenettes, are available now at rates exceedingly moderate considering the location and type of accommodations offered.

135,000 POLES WAIT CHANCE TO ENTER AMERICA

In view of criticism by American officials of the Hebrew Immigration Aid Society (Hias) concerning immigration to the United States from Poland, The Tribune sent George Seldes to Poland to make a new investigation. Mr. Seldes is the son of Jewish parents. Here is his story:

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
(Copyright: 1924. By The Chicago Tribune.)
WARSAW, Poland, April 17.—Under the Johnson immigration regulation bill it will take nine years to send from Poland to the United States those immigrants who have already obtained passports and are registered at the American consulates. Under the existing law it would have required four and a half years. And still they come. Of the 135,000 applicants 100,000 claim to be in the class of relatives now in America. Until 1921 90 per cent of the applicants were Jews, but recently the percentage of Poles seeking visas has been increased. These Poles are mostly peasants of the manual labor class, many of whom have been in America before.

The Polish government is alarmed at the prospect of the Jews filling up the quota for immigrants into America, as it makes it almost impossible for the surplus of Poles to emigrate.

No Outside Help.

In Poland there has been no committee to assist the immigrants in obtaining visas at the American consulates. Since the "immigrant mail order system" was begun several years ago, whereby applications came by mail with appointments made for questionnaires, would-be immigrants have conducted their business in the most orderly fashion, without crowding or influence by any one interested in immigration.

One paragraph of the consul general instructions reads: "Requests for appointments will not be acted upon from organizations, steamship companies, societies, subcommittees, or other third parties."

It is true, however, that practically all the Jewish immigrants are aided by an organization known as the Hebrew Immigration Aid Society (the Hias). However, whatever aid is given to the immigrants is legal, private, and without any relation to American officials.

Many Come from Russia.

Other Polish officials claim that certain agents which the government is unable to identify have aided numerous Jews to enter Poland from Russia and then supplied them with Polish papers, upon which they have gone or hope to go to America.

When asked for details of this smuggling from bolshevik Russia, Polish officials explained that it was done easily through the Polish Polish borders. Persons entering Poland legally are supplied with Polish documents. This is easy because numerous Jewish towns were destroyed during the recent wars. Birth, marriage, and other documents are faked, bearing the names of known inhabitants of these destroyed towns.

No Charge Against Hias.

American government officials to whom the above facts were related replied that it is undoubtedly true that numerous persons are obtaining visas on faked evidence, but such evidence is supplied by bands of international crooks operating in every country in Europe. American officials and investigators have not a single case of evidence that the Hias or other large organizations in any way has conducted American smuggling.

It is pointed out, however, that there is a thin line between assistance that is legal and assistance that is illegal. Beyond a doubt Jewish immigrants receive aid in the various forms necessary for obtaining a visa.

American officials say that, although they forbid any one to appear before them on behalf of immigrants, the majority of Jewish applicants have their papers intelligently ordered, while in many cases literacy and ignorance hamper the applicants who have no immigration aid society helping them.

FRANC GAMBLING PUTS AUSTRIANS NEAR COLLAPSE

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

VIENNA, April 17.—The financial structure of Austria and the league of nations reconstruction scheme is rapidly collapsing, as the result of franc speculation by the nation's leading financiers.

In the past three days the Austrian government has thrown 300,000,000,000

paper crowns, and a syndicate of big Vienna banks, 220,000,000,000 crowns

into the market to bolster up stocks,

which, though heavily depressed, greatly reduce taxes collectible. The reconstruction of Austria probably has been set back many years by this

emergency, and it is more doubtful

than ever if Austria can be self-sustaining.

much more money the government must spend.

Big speculators, like Bosel and Castiglion, are still sacrificing millions of crowns in stocks to cover their losses sustained on franc francs.

Baron Rudolf Pfeiffer, son of the former Austrian field marshal Pfeiffer, shot and killed his beautiful 20 year old wife and fatally wounded himself this afternoon because he lost all his fortune in franc speculations.

Big banks of Vienna have just reported to the board of governors of the stock exchange that their clients are short $10,000,000 through their franc speculations. At the end of April, and many interpret this to mean the real loss will be anywhere between five and fifteen times that amount.

The league reconstruction scheme now is in a perilous situation. The money which the Austrian government is pouring into the stock market daily not only further stimulates the budget but the general depression makes greater reductions taxes collectible. The

been set back many years by this

emergency, and it is more doubtful

than ever if Austria can be self-sustaining.

The Tribune Want Ad Section will circulate your message to 1,000,000 readers next Sunday

SELLING merchandise or services may be easy or difficult in proportion to the preconceived plan of effort. Some people cling to old ways. Others use modern methods. They are the successful ones—often termed “lucky.”

This generation enjoys the speed of distribution and the huge quantity of circulation of metropolitan newspapers that is unique in the history of publishing. A good newspaper is the constant companion of the average citizen. It goes with him on trains, into his office, into his home and club. Through its news columns and editorials it furnishes him with his daily intellectual activity—it satisfies his craving to know what goes on in the broad world outside his range of action—it furnishes him with local and domestic gossip—it supplies his daily modicum of humor, history, art and literature.

It follows naturally that the newspaper that holds such a vital place in the everyday life of a man or woman offers to the seller of merchandise or service the best possible reader interest available anywhere.

Through the use of space in a newspaper so quickly printed, so widely distributed, so eagerly looked for and read, the Want Advertiser is enabled to present his offer to prospects at a sales cost in keeping with modernized methods. And the Want Ad Section of a great metropolitan newspaper is no less marvelous or useful than the radio, the telephone, or any other modern development.

Through the purchase of a small amount of space in The Tribune Want Ad Section you can rent a store, sell a talking machine, let an apartment or sell a residence; you can sell sporting goods, pianos, antiques, musical instruments; you can find a job or procure good help. At a small cost you can talk to the largest Want Ad audience in America!

Two base hits—Krause, three base hits—Jacobsen, one on strike—Conrad, one on ball—Vanderbiele, double plays—Connally—Schultz—McGinnis—Shoaf, Hislop and one-third innings eight and two-thirds innings, by Hayes (Sheedy), Nine-Owens and Holmes.

BY IRVING VANDERBIELE

Rookie George Connally's first game held on a major league field yesterday and missed it by a mile. With pleasing support along, the ex-Texan had the turreted for eight and a half innings and then, with one go, worked himself into that Chargé d'Affaires summon from the back room.

Another youngster, Tom of Baylor university, was in a hurry. He set down Jacobson, who previously had Connally for a game, to a homer; left the Browns stranded on the bases, presented the White Sox with a second triumph in a row.

Sox Peel The Off

The Sox managed to make up for lack of quantity in the pitcher's mound by the defense against sides who had considerable trouble locating the plate. Elkins in the midst of a double, Innings, and Bill Bayne a few feet away, were to the down easy.

Connally's slabbing really was a matter of his enforced departure at the time. He showed the Browns in the way of a few more speed. Moreover, he was bothered by ticklish situations but Jacobson had him up in the ninth with the jammed Evers probably permitted him to stick and he started.

Hits Harder Each Time

It so happened that Connally had a marked liking to Connally throughout the game. The Texan four times and did single, double, and home runs, but being the eighth that didn't stop him from a left field bleacher bug in his pocket. Little wonder feared to let the “Baby” other glimpse of Connally.

Lyon stopped Jake in his first, first, first, and then cut that Jake, hoisted into a white Schalk smothered.

The Sox started on the win right in the first. Vandenberg batted to Mostil and Hooper advanced the two runners free, and old reliable along with a single to both men.

Jams Paths on P

In the Browns' third Connally was there that he showed Tobin opened by beating and Gerber fanned, but a grounder past Kamm Williams up, Evers to pass, then making making a double play worked fine. McMan Connally for a twin killing to first base route.

Jacobson horned in with the fourth and counted singled, but this merely Sox, who stepped out and then with three runs in the round. Schalk started and was safe at second. Manly's grounder. Manly and Hooper walked to the Collie then slapped a right, and when Tobin through him three runs through the counter.

Connally Scored One

Bayne took charge off hit, and from then until Sox were quiet. Then he singled and made the pitcher's bad throw to him by Hooper, and Collie.

Connally started to get ninth, when Tobin bunt with one down. Connie Sisler complicated matters with a scratch to Collie for Williams, who lashed for “ragging” grounded out and Tobin Robertson, subbing for McMan also had been banished, the sacks again, and Lied the field to stop the up.

ARRIVAL of a tardy spring brings a million new dangers for Chicago motorists, points a bulletin issued yesterday by the Chicago Automobile Trade association. The message appeals to parents and teachers all over the city to take extra pains in their safety talks to children.

Baller skating, bicycle riding, playing ball in the streets, and the other joys that spring brings to kids have become perilous sports in the high speed days of the season. It is urged that parents set aside five minutes each day and tell their children the new story of safety in traffic dangers. The bulletin also appeals to automobile drivers, urging them to drive with extra care and to be alert for children at all times.

NEW YORK SHY $70,000 OF ITS OLYMPIC QUOTA

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—New York City is $70,000 shy of its $100,000 portion of the $250,000 Olympic fund needed to send the American team abroad for the Olympic games.

With the sailing of the Yankees two months away, less than $10,000 has been turned into the American Olympic fund treasury. Unless the boxing show arranged for April 29 comes up to expectations as a financial success this city will have to do some tall hustling to make up its $100,000 quota.

As a profit of $50,000, or close to that sum, is expected from the boxing show, that affair has taken on a deal of importance. It means that a gate of about $75,000 will have to be realized.

Five Good Boys

Five exceptional matches have been arranged. Young Stripling meets Mike Burke in the feature; Eddie "Cannonball" Martin meets Charles (Phil) Rosenthal in what promises to be a sensational race; Paul Ebenbach and the Ebin brothers, former Olympic team members, will take on worthy opponents.

Major league baseball will be called upon shortly to help the fund. Col. Jacob Ruppert already has given the use of the stadium for the final local tryouts and the world's champions will be called in from the various regions from one of the championship games in the near future. A similar request will be made of the Giants.

Thus far only the Washington team among the major league clubs is scheduled to play for the fund. On May 15 the Senators will play in a benefit game with the marines.

Look to Racine Men

Racing men also are counted on to put their shoulders to the wheel. Buckle Bill has already done his $3,500 bequeathed from the amateur matches arranged under the auspices of the mayor's committee on municipal athletics activities.

In the spirited drive that will mark the efforts of the Olympic fund committee during the next few weeks special efforts will be made to secure individual contributions, as well as contributions from various business and athletic organizations. John D. Rockefeller Jr. has donated $5,000, but with a proviso that four other donations of a like amount be secured.

FIRST OLYMPIC SOCCER GAME IS U. S. VS. ESTHONIA

PARIS, April 17.—The United States team will meet the Estonian team in the first round of the Olympic games association football matches May 25, it was decided in the draw for the events today.

Other matches that day will include Spain against Italy, Czechoslovakia against Turkey and Switzerland against Lithuania.

On May 26 Hungary will meet Poland, Jugoslavia will meet Uruguay and Portugal will contest with Sweden, Holland, Romania, Bulgaria, Ireland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Egypt, Latvia and France draw byes for the first two days of play.

The technical committee of the French Olympic committee will meet tomorrow to decide where the matches will be played. The draw for the second round matches May 27 and 28 will be held May 26.

FENCERS MEET AT MIDWAY TONIGHT

Fencing for Chicago's championship at Bartlett gym of the University of Chicago will be held at the Midway, held last night, as a previous statement had announced. Wielding of foil, sabers, and broadswords will start at 7:30 o'clock. The meet will be divided into junior, intermediate, and senior divisions. Entries are to be accepted up until the start of the tournament.

OLYMPIC STAR OUT FOR SEASON

Philadelphia, Pa., April 17.—Nelson Sherrill, former indoor intercollegiate pole-vault champion and American Olympic team prospect, dislocated his right shoulder in a fall from a twelve foot vault on Franklin field, and probably will be out of competition for the remainder of the season. Last year Sherrill broke the same ankle in the Cornell dual meet.

Coast Divers Driving to Gotham for Olympic Trials

San Francisco, Cal., April 17.—Bernice Phelan, 15 year old aquatic star; her father and Phil Patterson, diver of the San Francisco Olympic club, left today to compete for New York, where Miss Phelan and Patterson will enter the Olympic games tryouts. Both are fancy divers. The pair will stop en route for training at the Illinois Athletic club in Chicago.

EARLY WAKE: The first social reunion after the fire of '71 of Corinthian boozers in the A. L. was held in Corinthian Hall, 137 Kinzie street, March 16, 1874. Members of the reception committee were Thos. E. Miller, Wm. Kerr, J. A. Crawford, J. W. Congdon, Arthur War-

For we did not know where to locate them until we met them that night. We were all poor then, no class distinctions, but kind and thoughtful of each other after the fire.

SENATE VOTES
FEWER ALIEN
JAPANESE B

President to Get in Two Weeks.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENN
Washington, D. C., April 18.—

Unswayed in the slightest by the exhortations and the urging emanating from Japan and other countries adversely affected, the senative night by a vote of 62 to 8 passed bill excluding Japanese immigration and reducing European immigration by 25 per cent.

The negative vote were cast by Senators Colt (R. I.), chairman of the immigration committee, and V.
(Md.), Republicans, and Bayard (Del.), King (Utah), Gerry (R. I.), and (Mass.), Democrats.

The bills passed by the house
Senate, which differ in some unimportant particulars, now go to conference committee of the houses. Leaders predict that the bills will be in the hands of the Senate within a fortnight.

Issue Up to President.

It then will be up to Mr. Coolidge to decide whether to veto the bill.
Secretary of State Hughes would him to do, as the country which has manifested its desire predominately through congress, have him do, or allow it to become law without his signature, as one who would have him sign it was counseling him to do.

Senators and representatives and they have been inundated with letters and telegrams from commending them for the unswerving stand finally taken to make unassimilable immigrants
a country.

The house and senate bills are on the outstanding provision Japanese exclusion and the basing the quota henceforth on 2 per cent of foreign born population of United States in 1920, under which will be reduced from 357,000 a year to 161,000.

Senate is More Drastic.
The senate bill has a further provision, however, that after July 1, 1925, immigration from countries of quotas, which are chiefly in Europe, will be limited to 150,000, apportioned on the basis of the national origin of the entire white population of United States in 1920.

The house bill admits relatives immigrants nowhere, in addition to quotas, while the senate bill admits them in the quotas but with preference. The house bill limits many skilled laborers except on the quotas and contains a section intended to prevent immigrants from coming in our ports of entry, getting shore leave and so on.

Skilled Labor for Farms.

By a vote of 46 to 26 the Senate Simmons amendment was passed:

Whenever the legislature or governor of a state makes a request to the secretary of labor for skilled labor or for skilled farmers expert in agronomy, forestry, culture or animal husbandry, or for the purpose of filling a specific need in that state, the secretary of labor, with the council of the state, may make a review of the situation and upon their appropriation of immigration visas make a preference shall next be given to the skilled labor or to skilled farmers.

The preference provided shall be the case of any one country 25 per centum of the quota to such country.

Call for Discrimination.

Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.), floor leader for the bill, opposed passage amendment on the ground that it was discriminatory.

There has been a great setback throughout the country of the lack of plasters.

"There may at times be
a call for them to give preference to other industries. It is to them to give preference to them," he said.

Preference to relatives
exists now in this country in the bill, but that is a preference that should be given to the farmers.

"But" Senator Simmons answered to the fact that the fact that the farmers will merely tend to the same conditions.

Canadians Always Welcome.

to pass an amendment by Sen.
